History and Organization

Act 38 of 1971 created the Arkansas Department of Health as a cabinet level agency. Act 1954 of 2005 merged the Arkansas Department of Health into the Department of Human Services and renamed the Agency the Department of Health and Human Services. The Arkansas Department of Health is now named the Arkansas Department of Health and Human Services - Division of Health. Created in 1913, the State Board of Health serves as a policy advisory body to the Division and has specific statutory authority in issues related to public health. The Director is nominated by the State Board of Health and serves at the pleasure of the Governor. The Division Director currently serves as Secretary to the Board of Health.

The Arkansas Department of Health and Human Services - Division of Health provides core public health functions for the state: policy development, assessment and assurance. The Division delivers a broad range of public health preventive and regulatory services statewide. Approximately 3,000 public health workers across Arkansas are employed by the Division to provide these services.

In addition to two central office locations, the agency has 94 Local Health Units. Local Health Units are established and maintained through joint efforts of state, county and local governments. The Division is organized into five public health regions that correspond to geographic areas of the state. Additional organizational units include the Center for Health Protection, Center for Health Advancement, Center for Local Public Health, Center for Public Health Practice, Office of Minority Health and Health Disparities, Arkansas Public Health Laboratory, and Health Administration. These organizational units provide services and support to the Public Health Regions in an effort to accomplish the Division's mission.

The mission of the Arkansas Department of Health and Human Services - Division of Health is to promote public health policies and practices that assure a healthy quality of life for Arkansans.

Merger of the Department of Health into the Department of Human Services DHHS - Division of Health, Structure Conversion

Act 1954 of 2005 merged the Department of Health into the Department of Human Services and renamed the agency the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). This merger required the revision of accounting and budgeting structures to properly account for and streamline the budgetary functions of the new Health Division. The new Division of Health will be included in the DHHS Cost Allocation plan used for allocating funds and will consist of a single Operations appropriation and various other stand alone program appropriations. This crosswalk represents the conversion from the Old Structure to the New Structure. At the time of the merger, there were approximately 5,337 cost centers assigned in AASIS. That number has been reduced to approximately 160 under the new structure.
