AGENCY PROGRAM COMMENTARY
2003 - 2005

ACIC provides Information Technology to criminal justice agencies through the crime information system. ACIC also administers the state's Computerized Criminal History (CCH) file, the Sex Offender Registry, the Crime Victim Notification System, the Uniform Crime Reporting program, the National Incident Based Reporting System and the Office of Crime Prevention and provides technical assistance to local law enforcement on record systems and communication.

The ACIC network now includes 203 criminal justice agencies in 288 different locations, with over 1,895 access devices attached. In 2001 over 34 million transactions were processed through the ACIC system. ACIC also provides access to systems in the other 49 states and to the NCIC system operated by the FBI. Use of ACIC has steadily increased over the past 30 years, with the most dramatic increase being in the past three years due to mobile computers. The cost for processing transactions is directly related to volume. ACIC uses the DIS mainframe computer and pays a monthly fee to DIS based upon volume. The volume generated by law enforcement agencies using ACIC determines the cost charged to ACIC by DIS. This means that the cost is basically outside of the control of ACIC.

The "ACIC2" system upgrade was completed in 2001. This process included converting 400 dumb terminals to intelligent workstations, a new higher speed data network, new relational database files and a message switching processor dedicated to ACIC. This new ACIC2 will support all the features and functions of the new FBI NCIC2000 system. State and local government in Arkansas are sharing the cost of ACIC2.

ACIC has three main budget priorities for the next biennium:

1. Additional funding for network and system operating costs is critical. ACIC has increased the fees charged to its users by 34 percent in the past two years in an attempt to cover rising costs. This was necessary because additional state funding was not available. Further increases to our users will be nearly impossible, given the financial situation of most local user agencies.
2. ACIC is requesting the addition of three new positions: (1) Systems Programmer and (2) Information System Agents.

The System Programmer is necessary to aid in the support of our many PCs, servers, laptops, printers and field equipment. Our current staff is unable to perform all the programming functions that are mandated by federal and state government regulations.

One of the Information System Agents would be assigned to the National Incident Based Reporting System, which is the crime reporting system developed by the FBI. Arkansas is completing the process of converting to this more detailed form of reporting. If Arkansas is to be successful in the implementation and continuation of the NIBRS project, ACIC must have an employee assigned to this program.

The other Information System Agent would be assigned to the Sex Offender Registry Program. ACIC is mandated by state legislation to maintain the Sex Offender Registry program. We must have a position assigned to this program to fulfill and properly maintain the Sex Offender Registry program, thereby enabling ACIC to be compliant with legislation.
